

QUALITY POLICY

Roadstone Ltd. operates and maintains a third party registered Quality Management System, which complies with the International Standard ISO 9001. The company has over time built up an excellent reputation for competitiveness, reliability, quality, and service.

All employees, sub-contractors, and suppliers contribute to our goal of continuously improving our products and services and in maintaining our ISO 9001 and Feed Material Assurance Scheme (FEMAS) certification. This requires the consistent application of our Quality Management System and agreed policies and procedures. Our line management is directly responsible for the implementation of the Quality Management System.

Roadstone promotes a culture of innovation and collaboration to improve the effectiveness, efficiency and quality of our operations, service and products. In this way, we ensure that Roadstone Ltd. remains the number one choice for our customers.

Limestone powders are manufactured at selected locations for animal feeds under FEMAS. The ISO 9001 and FEMAS quality management systems ensure that all operations are conducted in a controlled manner with the emphasis on regulatory compliance, achieving the required standard consistently and working towards continual improvement.

Our summary objectives are to:

- Meet the reasonable expectations of our customers for products and services
- Comply with regulatory requirements
- Continually improve our products and services
- Provide the resources to achieve these objectives

Specific objectives and targets are defined by the senior management team and these are regularly reviewed as part of the management review process. The company ensures that all employees are fully conversant with these objectives.

The senior management team ensures that the quality policy aligns with and supports the company's strategic objectives and plans.
